Question: 68

ðíonsider the following process flow from the Main Page of a process in Process Studio:
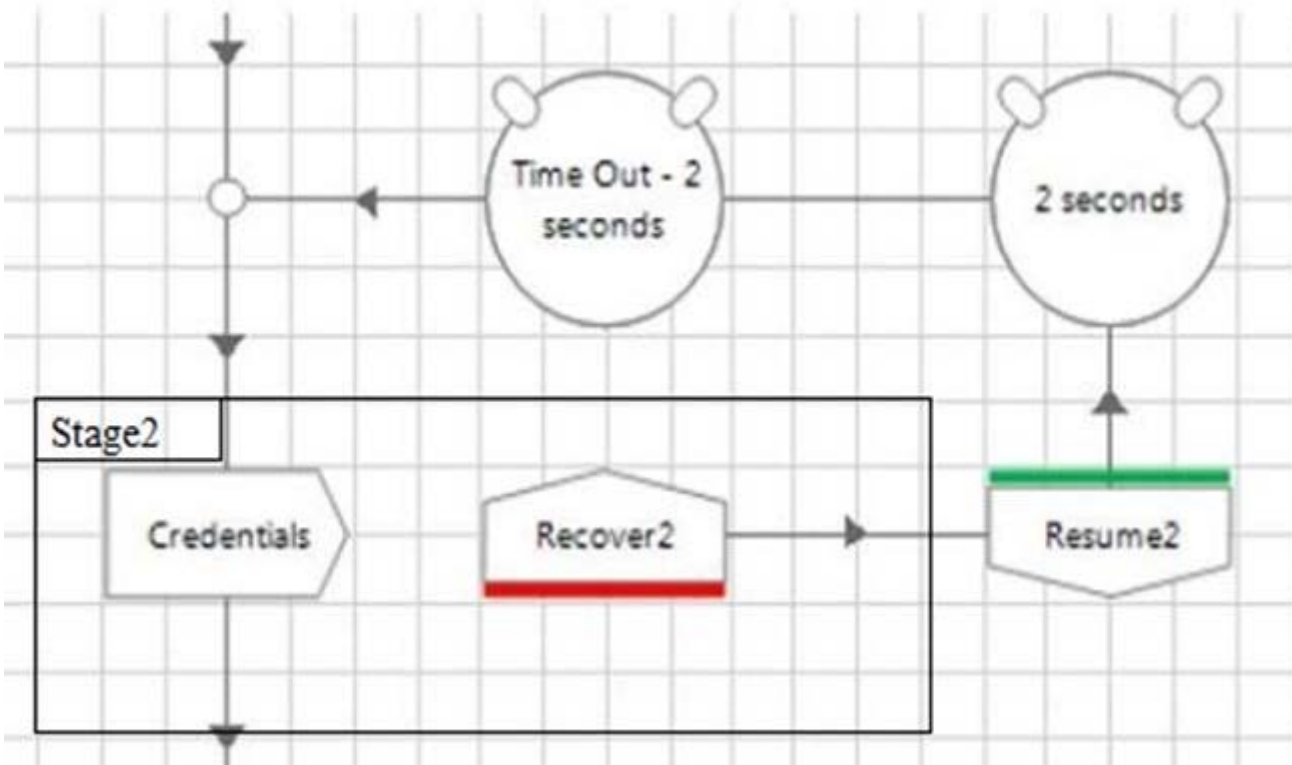

Thinking about the standard Blue Prism Process Templates, what is wrong with this Main Page process flow? A. There is nothing wrong with the Main Page flow shown in the image, it is a copy of Blue Prism's standard Process Template. B. The Stop? decision stage should be removed from the process flow, as Stop times is configured either within the Scheduler or processes are stopped via Control Room. C. The Main Page process flow is too high level. For better visibility of the process logic the flow steps hidden in the sub-pages should all be on the main page instead. D. There is no exception handling on this Main Page so any exceptions that "bubble up" will cause the process to terminate rather than exceptions being handled correctly. E. The Reset Global Data page is not required because sub-pages within a process should always use input and output parameters rather than global data items. There should be no global data to reset.

Answer: B

Consider the following flow within an Object Studio action:

The developer of this flow found that writing some credentials to the target application sometimes failed with an exception even though the element exists on the screen. He found that simply catching the exception, waiting for 2 seconds and then retrying fixed the problem. What problems do you see within the flow?

A. The Resume stage is not within the same Exception Block as the Recover stage and therefore will not work.
B. There is a potential for an infinite loop if the "ÿCredentials' stage keeps throwing an exception for some unforeseen reason.
C. The credentials stage is a read stage not a write stage.
D. There is no need for a wait stage in the flow.

Answer: B
